

PRESS RELEASE

Return to the dark fantasy world of Tower City – if you dare.

After over two years of waiting, Darwin author Sean Guy finally returns to the world of Tower City with his new novel SERAPH, book three in the Tower City Chronicles.

An assassin that can't be stopped...

A lawless criminal underworld locked in a power struggle...

A Titan hunting for answers that should have stayed hidden...

And a heroic bodyguard about to risk everything he loves...

This is a series that combines everything we love about gang warfare, heroic investigators, and supernatural mysteries. Perfect for fans of Neil Gaiman's American Gods or Sandman comics – or for readers of Percy Jackson, as long as they're aged 16 or above!

What makes this series special?

- Possibly the only book series ever written where five novels are set over five consecutive weeks!
- Book 3 starts just hours after the climax of book 2, and introduces new characters and new enemies!

What are readers saying?

Sit down and strap yourselves in. Sean Guy's latest is an action thriller. I couldn't put the book down.

- Adam Steer on book 2: Voodoo Games

Heralds the start of a major writing talent in the Northern Territory.

- Barry Jonsberg, author

Tower City is the most exciting place I have ever visited. Almost need medical insurance to read this novel.

- Nina B. (librarian)

To be launched by fabulous NT author Tanya Heaslip (An Alice Girl; Alice to Prague)

Time: 5pm for 5:30 formalities, 11th October, at the Bookshop Darwin (Smith Street Mall)
